Summary

A highly motivated junior full-stack JavaScript developer with experience in developing web applications using a range of technologies, including React, Node.js, MongoDB, and MySQL. Adept at working in a team environment, with excellent problem-solving and communication skills.

Experience

NCE YET 01/2022 - Current

During my web development coursework, I completed several challenging projects that allowed me to develop my skills in React, Node.js, and MongoDB. One of the most complex projects I worked on was a full-stack e-commerce website, where I was responsible for developing the backend using Node.js and MongoDB, as well as integrating it with the frontend using React. This project required me to learn new technologies quickly and work collaboratively with a team of developers, which improved my problem-solving and communication skills. Overall, my coursework and projects have given me a strong foundation in web development and a passion for learning more.
